n outstanding historically black college for women, Spelman promotes academic excellence in the liberal arts and develops the intellectual, ethical and leadership potential of its students.

Spelman seeks to empower the total person, who appreciates the many cultures of the world and commits to positive social change.

A Letter from the President

Spelman College is poised on the dawn of a new era. We are on course in measuring up to our mission – to achieve excellence in liberal arts education; to develop the total person; to empower our students; and to develop women to serve. Like our sisters at the end of the 19th century, we have high expectations as we enter the 21st century. Just as they could not imagine the scale of development that has occurred over the last 100 years, we can hardly imagine what progress awaits us in the decades to come. However, we are empowered by our storied legacy of academic excellence and commitment to developing leaders who serve.

It is our privilege to present the 1998-99 Annual Report. We have chronicled our successes and have identified the challenges we will face during this extraordinary period in world history—the beginning of a new millennium. We are proud to have you as shareholders in our mission of developing the intellectual potential of women. We deeply appreciate your investment in our vision and our end product: the Spelman graduate. Without your support, the journey would be impossible.

We start from a position of strength academically, administratively and fiscally. Our campus is undergoing construction and renovations that will enhance scientific inquiry and improve student health care. Our nearly 2,000 students are the best and the brightest young African American women in the nation and the faculty continues to demonstrate outstanding commitment, dedication and scholarship. We have a talented, hard-working staff that remains committed to supporting the daily activities of the College.

The Annual Report details the progress the College has made in the areas of strategic planning, growth and expansion, strengthening institutional infrastructure, improving the quality of life for our students and empowering our alumnae.

The Spelman Strategic Plan process identified four major initiatives for the future of the College; it is currently being finalized. We have initiated a Strategic Plan for Technology and a Master Plan which will address the physical plant and new facilities. Our self-study, a requisite for our regional accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), is in process. And finally, the new Science Center construction and the McVicar Hall renovation have proceeded in a timely manner.

Our vision for Spelman's future embraces the College's neighboring communities. We are very excited about this progress as we continue to form partnerships through community outreach. We know our survival and growth as an institution are inextricably linked to the health and well being of the community in which we live and work. In fact, towards this end, the College coordinated the Atlanta University Center (AUC) Community Urban Summit, which was held on June 4-5, 1999. The Summit brought together more than 200 committed and enthusiastic residents, faculty, staff, students, and alumni from the AUC to discuss partnership opportunities for improving the quality of life for the residents and for revitalizing our neighborhoods.

Indeed, this inaugural year has been exciting, rigorous and rewarding. On October 31, 1998, when I accepted the charge, issued by our Board of Trustees Chair, Dr. June Hopps, I promised to serve, to love, to transform and take Spelman College to new heights of excellence. I invite you again to join me in this effort, for this awesome challenge is a shared responsibility. As we face the new century, we must continue to plan and prepare the College to enter a new millennium with her course firmly set toward a bright and prosperous future. With your continued support, we will measure up to our mission.

Sincerely,

Audrey F. Manley, C'55

The Spelman Strategic Plan

The Spelman College Strategic Plan: A Blueprint for the Future is being designed to provide direction for the future of the College while maintaining the character that has long defined it as one of the nation's finest institutions of higher learning. Built upon the strengths and accomplishments of our past and present, this plan will articulate a vision for Spelman that will have far reaching impact well into this 21st century. The Strategic Plan is being organized around the following initiatives:

- institutional mission and the learning environment

As we formulated our planning process, we revisited our mission and institutional identity to measure how our future should be aligned with our past. We knew that in order to move forward, we must have a realistic understanding of our institutional identity and how it affected the way we do business. We also determined that we must take new approaches to delivering instruction to today's young women in an extremely competitive academic environment.

- technology

Technology has already revolutionized the educational process at Spelman College. Over a decade ago, the College invested in upgrading its systems through the introduction of computers. Faculty, students, administration and staff have been provided access to on-line capabilities. Spelman has completed year four of a major computer conversion to enhance technology infrastructure. The next step is the development of a strategic plan for technology.

- infrastructure

Since infrastructure is the basic foundation upon which Spelman rests and which supports the College's mission, the Spelman College Strategic Plan will provide direction for the development, management and maintenance of the infrastructure. One of the major reasons students choose to attend a college or university is the physical facilities/campus aesthetics. To remain a major competitor among the top liberal arts institutions in the country, Spelman College initiated a master planning process to align our academic and infrastructure goals.

- community partnerships

The mission of the College has been to educate women who serve. As the 21st century unfolds, Spelman's location in southwest Atlanta provides untold opportunities to demonstrate its abilities to respond to the social and economic challenges in the area. These solutions can serve as models to resolve national and international problems in society.

Our action plan to partner with the community began with the historic Atlanta University Center (AUC) Community Urban Summit, held June, 1999. The Summit was funded by grants from the Kellogg Foundation, Chase Manhattan Foundation, Lincoln Institute of Land Policy and The Johnnetta B. Cole Institute for Community Building. During the event, more than 200 participants recommended strategies for building a strong partnership between the colleges and neighboring communities. Dr. Pauline Drake, our Dean of Continuing Education, led discussions for the College's participation in community revitalization and partnership. One of the key areas identified in community meetings was economic development, which includes reducing community unemployment, increasing community entrepreneurship and enhancing employment skills. The other areas of concern pointed to issues surrounding pre K-12 education, communication and public safety.

The partnership between Spelman/AUC and our neighbors will increase interaction and connection between our faculty, students and area residents. This partnership will be a natural link between college class work and life in the world into which our students will graduate. The activities will also inform our strategic plan as we look to the 21st century to strengthen our community partnership.

In today's competitive environment, standards have been set to determine top colleges – motivated and talented students, challenging curricula and strong faculty. This year, Black Enterprise magazine recognized Spelman, as No. 1 among the list of top 50 prestigious and Ivy League colleges. This selection affirmed what Spelman has always believed – that it is a college that provides the optimum academic and social environments for African American women.

Measuring Up to Excellence

During this academic year, an environment of high student morale and constant attention to the details of academic rigor have prevailed on the campus. Students have taken advantage of a variety of academic experiences and activities on campus and throughout the global community. The Domestic Exchange Program was vibrant with 24 Spelman women studying at 10 exchange affiliate institutions. In turn, Spelman hosted 25 students from such institutions as Barnard, Occidental, Smith, Wellesley Colleges and Stanford University. Students also studied abroad, and faculty participated in exchanges with Dartmouth and Middlebury Colleges.

Two Spelman graduates received Fulbright Scholarships. Asha Williams, a Chicago Heights native and sociology major, who also speaks fluent German, will study refugee settlements in Frankfurt, Germany during the fall semester of 1999. Another sociology major who speaks fluent Spanish – Rachele James from Savannah – will research the impact of race on the economic experiences of Afro-Costa Rican business owners in February 2000.

The 1999 Watson Fellow, Miguela Gonzalez, a chemistry major, will conduct independent research to document the oral traditions of African music in Ghana, Gambia and Senegal. A native of Trinidad, Ms. Gonzalez was president of Spelman's International Students Organization and was among 50 students placed in the Study Abroad Program. Students studied in Chile, the Dominican Republic, Italy, France, England, South Africa, Senegal, Ghana, Jamaica, Japan, China and Zimbabwe.

Some of our most enthusiastic and tireless students welcomed research and internship opportunities during the summer months. Spelman women were among the ranks of White House and State Department interns. They represented the College as NASA, Panasonic, Kimberly-Clark, Chase, DuPont and Amgen interns to name a few. They competed and received Merck/UNCF, Mellon, Morris Udall and Woodrow Wilson summer fellowships. Students also participated in summer research activities on various campuses, including the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Howard, Syracuse, Princeton, Duke, Purdue and The University of Pennsylvania.

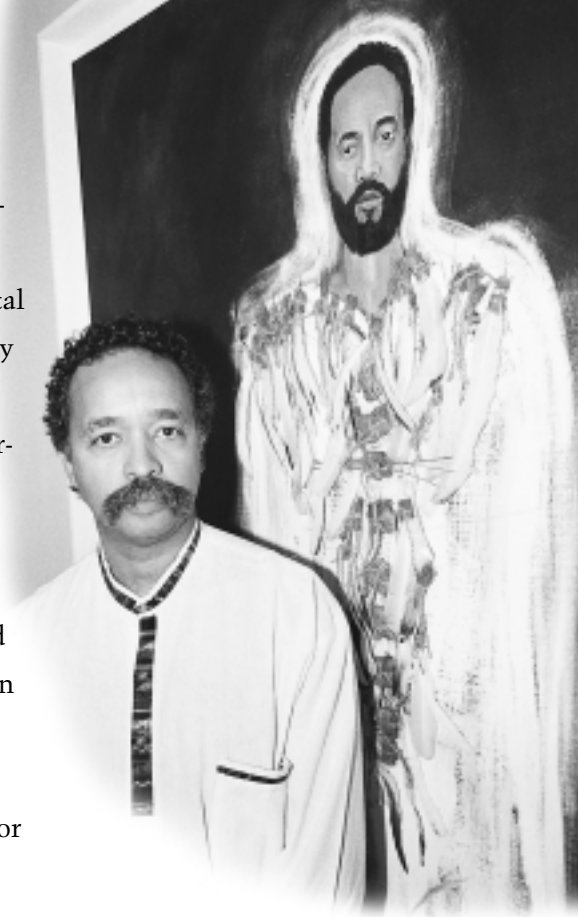

These various opportunities for students to study away from campus underscore the competitiveness and strength of the College's academic program. They also motivate us to make traditional programs relevant for today's societal needs. For example, the English Department revised its major program of study by initiating three tracks of study in African American and U.S. Literature; British Literature; and Gender Studies, Critical Theory, and International Literature. Also, seven students were accepted into the Environmental Science major, an interdisciplinary curriculum developed by the faculty and implemented in the fall semester.

Freshman engineering courses were added to the curriculum by Dr. Leonard Lay, the new Coordinator of the Dual Degree Engineering Program. A course in Engineering Graphics using AutoCAD was piloted in the spring semester and the Mathematics Electronic Classroom was upgraded with new computers to accommodate AutoCAD. This program is funded by the Model Institutions for Excellence (MIE) grant.

Three new special programs in the sciences were initiated. The Program in Physical Sciences (PIPS), funded by the Office of Naval Research ($2.3 million), provided enrichment activities in the Physics and Chemistry Programs and scholarships for students. The Scholars in Mathematics Program, funded by the National Security Agency ($450,000), provided an enhanced curriculum, scholarships and special student enrichment for mathematics majors. Funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF), the Summer EDGE Program, in collaboration with Bryn Mawr College, offered special bridge activities for students preparing for graduate studies in mathematics.

During this academic year, Spelman completed articulation agreements with five prestigious institutions to expand the experiential training of students in various areas of studies. The partnerships in the Dual Degree Program in Engineering were increased to 12 by adding Columbia University and the University of Florida. Spelman also entered into agreements for the Minority Graduate Education Programs with Georgia Institute of Technology and Howard University. And finally, as a result of an articulation agreement, students and faculty will engage in research and teaching through opportunities with Columbia University and Biosphere 2 in Arizona.

We also continued to enhance our tradition and esteemed reputation in the arts. During the fall of 1998, the Museum of Fine Art sponsored an exhibition, Divergent Journeys/Aesthetic Convergence, featuring the works of four faculty members. A highlight of the 1999 spring semester was the show, Lois Mailou Jones and Her Former Students: Seven Decades of American Art.

Grants from the Mellon Foundation and the Lilly Endowment have stimulated a plethora of exciting activities surrounding new approaches to teaching and learning, including an explosion of web-based courses.

The First-Year Orientation, Sophomore Assembly and Sisters Chapel Services were revitalized and restructured under the leadership of Dr. Marshalita Peterson, Chair of the Education Department, and Dr. Norman Rates, Dean of the Chapel. Important topics shared by renowned speakers focused on the theme of the year, Women as Citizens of the World: Demonstrating Vision, Integrity, Values and Involvement. A team of faculty, under the direction of Dr. Peterson, developed a textbook for the First-Year Orientation that is focused on Spelman College. The book will be piloted with the freshman class during the 1999 fall semester.

During the Inauguration week of activities, the faculty presented the Inaugural Symposium, New Women, New Worlds, on Oct. 30, 1998. The symposium provided a public forum in which scholars, community activists, students, public policy makers and members of the business community engaged in dialogue about a broad range of issues confronting America, particularly as they affect black women in the United States and throughout the world. Noted participants included U.S. Representative Eleanor Holmes Norton and Dr. Bernice Johnson Reagon, C'70, vocalist, author, composer and cultural historian.

Grants from the Mellon Foundation and the Lilly Endowment have stimulated a plethora of exciting activities surrounding new approaches to teaching and learning, including an explosion of web-based courses. We are also maintaining our competitive edge with multimedia technologies playing an increasingly supportive role in creative teaching strategies.

Our tradition of possessing the finest faculty ever continued to be demonstrated as they engaged in creative scholarship, including publication of books and journal articles, and the production of artistic exhibitions and performances. Dr. Arturo Lindsay, associate professor of art and art history, made history by organizing the first international multi-disciplinary bilingual symposium to address the presence of black Christ figures and statues found throughout the Americas. Dr. Lindsay also received a Fulbright Fellowship for a project in South America while Dr. Victor Ibeanusi, associate professor of biology and environmental science, received a Fulbright Fellowship to study in Germany.

Dr. Beverly Guy-Sheftall, Director of the Women's Resources and Research Center, completed her tenure as a Pew Scholar. For the 1999-2000 academic year the Pew Scholarship was awarded to Dr. Mona Phillips, assistant professor of sociology.

Other highlights of the 1998-99 school year included the following:

- The College awarded 362 degrees at the May 1999 Commencement including 287 Bachelor of Arts degrees and 75 Bachelor of Science degrees.

- Honorary degrees were awarded to Dr. Johnnetta B. Cole, President Emerita of Spelman College and Presidential Distinguished Professor of Anthropology at Emory University; Dr. Dorothy Cotton, Partner with Civic Organizing, Inc.; Earl Graves, Chairman and CEO of Earl Graves, Ltd.; Dr. Lee Lorch, Professor Emeritus and Senior Scholar at York University; and Dr. Jewell Limar Prestage, educator and author.
- Dr. Walter Trumbull, Jr., founder of The Harlem Boys Choir, was presented the National Community Service Award.
- The College Awarded three honorary degrees to alumnae during the Founders Day celebration. The recipients included Aurelia E. Brazeal, C'65, Dr. Deborah Prothrow-Stith C'75, and Major General Marcelite J. Harris, C'64.
- The Music Department received reaffirmation of full accreditation from the National Association of Schools of Music.
- Six faculty members were selected for New York University Faculty Resource Network Summer Awards; two faculty members received UNCF Faculty Development grants; and one faculty member received a Mellon Dissertation Fellowship to attend Emory University.
- Eight faculty members were selected by Merrill, Mobil and Mellon Foundations for travel grants. International travel experiences included Morocco, China, Peru, India and Turkey and South Africa.
- U.S. Ambassador Bismarck Myer spent the year at Spelman as a diplomat-in-residence in an effort to educate students about foreign affairs.
- Presidential Awards for Teaching, Scholarship, and College Service were presented to Dr. Disiree Pedescleaux, assistant professor, political science; Dr. Victor Ibeanusi, assistant professor, biology; and Dr. Jeanne Meadows, associate professor and Chair, Political Science Department.
- Dr. Dorothy Richey was appointed the Director of Athletics during the year in accordance with NCAA guidelines.
- Merit pay was initiated for faculty, and salary adjustments were made for 98 faculty to bring salaries to the 50th percentile of Baccalaureate I institutions.
- Spelman/AUC honored Congressman Louis Stokes on October 3, 1998, for distinguished service and Spelman awarded him the honorary Doctor of Laws degree.
- For the second year, Spelman's Epsilon Georgia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa inducted new members.
- Faculty retirements were celebrated for Dr. Lois Moreland, Director of the International Affairs Center and Dr. Alonzo Crim, professor of education and Special Assistant to the President of the College. Professor Emerita was bestowed on Dr. Moreland. This was the first such commendation in the history of Spelman College.

uring this academic year, the Division of Student Affairs enhanced the quality of services designed to help students reach their academic goals with an emphasis on community service and leadership. In an attempt to evaluate the strength of our student involvement in the community, we conducted a campus-wide audit of community service placements. This information will be helpful as we strengthen Spelman's partnership with the community.

Preparing Servant Leaders

The Office of Community Service placed students in more than 93 service sites and supported the development of two new service learning courses, one in anthropology and the other in foreign languages. The anthropology course was linked to the collection of oral history from residents of the Washington Park Community and the John O. Chiles Senior High Rise. The special language course, designed by Dr. Frederick Langhorst, was used to train interpreters for Spanish-speaking patients at Grady Hospital and students at Anderson Park Elementary School.

We also sponsored four students – LaTina Emerson, Ifeoma Nnaji, Erin Spearman and Kia Barosy – for the 1999 Leadershape Institute in Champaign, Ill. Leadershape is a six-day premier leadership development program designed to assist in identifying the leadership potential of students. In addition, Spelman sponsored 11 students to attend the National Black Leadership Conference in Richmond, Virginia. Students representing various organizations and classifications attended the three-day conference, which featured noted keynote speakers and workshops on leadership development.

Other significant accomplishments in Student Affairs during 1998-99 were:

- Residential Services sponsored a series of activities and programs – “Raising the Standard” – to build community while providing extra-curricula learning opportunities for campus residents. Topics included interpersonal relationships, interviewing skills and stress and time management.
- Ms. Felicia Smith was hired as Director of the Bonner Scholars Program. The addition of Ms. Smith has already shown signs of strengthening the program because there were 80 Bonner Scholars involved in community service.
- The Office of Career Planning and Development conducted thirteen workshops and seminars to prepare students for their professional goals. The Shangazi Program, designed in cooperation with the Spelman Corporate Women's Roundtable, placed six students with members of the Roundtable and other top women executives during spring break. The program gave participating students, who shadowed the executives, an opportunity to experience life in corporate America.

- The Shepherd Poverty Alliance provided six Spelman students opportunities to serve an eight-week internship with agencies that serve economically disadvantaged populations in rural and urban areas. The Alliance is a collaboration between Spelman, Berea and Morehouse Colleges, and Washington and Lee University.
- Ten students participated in the UPS Scholars Program, which is designed to improve reading and math skills for students at Fickett and Dean Rusk Elementary Schools.
- During the Inaugural Community Action Day, the Office of Community Service coordinated a "clean up day" in the West End district. The Department of Health Services conducted a Community Health Fair at the West End Mall where more than 500 community residents took advantage of free health screenings and health information.
- The Department also provided self-breast exams training for the freshman class; facilitated blood drives sponsored by Life South; and presented information to the student body on women's health issues.
- In commemoration of World AIDS Day, the Department of Health Services collaborated with the American Red Cross to provide African American HIV/AIDS training.
- Counseling Services developed partnerships and collaborated with 21 social service agencies to continue sensitivity training of mental health professionals who work with our students and the community. The Division also designed and presented a series of psycho-educational workshops on topics ranging from mental health education and diversity to depression/anxiety and male/female relationships.
- The Office of Disability Services hosted a regional workshop with the Disability Access Institute in November 1998. The keynote speaker was Salome Heyward, a leading legal expert on disability and higher education.
- Public Safety continued to promote innovative programs such as Fight Back, P.O.S.S.E. (Protecting Our Spelman Students Everyday) and Adopt-A-Dorm to provide students with optimum levels of personal security.

The Business of Giving

The Inauguration of President Manley, our “True Blue President,” was the largest stewardship program the College has undertaken. It involved all constituents of the College and provided increased outreach to the surrounding community. In recognition of the impact and creativity of the Inauguration, the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) selected Spelman from 144 other institutions to receive its Gold Award for the most unique inauguration.

In an effort to build the level of financial support, Spelman relied heavily upon the support of alumnae, Trustees, Corporate Partners, friends, foundations, federal agencies, organizations and our own faculty and staff. At fiscal year-end, the Division of Institutional Advancement reported gifts and grants totaling $12,926,953, with $6,764,690 in private gifts and $6,152,263 in federal grants.

The College’s fundraising priorities included the Science Center and Sisters Chapel. The division raised more than $4.2 million toward the $7.8 million shortfall for the Science Center and developed the plan for Phase II: Revival of the Spirit, the Campaign to raise the $2.6 million needed to preserve and renovate Sisters Chapel.

The Office of Alumnae Affairs honored 10 alumnae with the 1999 Alumnae Achievement Award: Tina McElroy Ansa, C’71, Marie Thomas Foster, C’63, Harriet Mitchell Murphy, C’49, Terry Cornwell Rumsey, C’75, Frieda Williamson Morris, C’66, Ruth Scott Simmons, C’37, Margaret Carol Lee, C’76, Isa Patterson Williams, C’71, Virginia Davis Floyd, C’73 and Lela Lewis, C’75.

The College formulated a partnership agreement with the National Alumnae Association of Spelman College that involved individual and chapter leadership development and increased giving for college priorities.

Other Division highlights:

- Secured $1 million in scholarships and capital improvement support from the Eli Lilly/UNCF Historically Black Colleges and Universities Endowment Fund.
- Achieved a record high in Trustee giving at 82.6 percent, with full anticipation of 100 percent participation in 1999-00.
- Recorded a continued increase in alumnae giving, with a year-end high of $724,133.
- Reported a growth in net assets generated for the Planning Giving Program over five years totaling $953,793 .
- Challenged individual alumnae giving for renovation of Sisters Chapel with a $250,000 challenge grant.
- Presented the Founders Spirit Award to Isabella McIntyre Tobin, C'45.
- Collaborated with two alumnae, Dr. Fleda Mask Jackson, C'73 and Dr. Mona T. Phillips, C'76 to present "Calming the Waters, Holding Back the Storm: A Conference on Stress, Reproductive Health, and Health Promotion among African American Women."

The division completed its administrative team with the appointment of Trisa Long Paschal, as vice president of Institutional Advancement. Ms. Paschal previously served as associate vice president.

Thank You

e closed the end of the 20th century with our tradition of financial growth intact and a 30-year tradition of balanced budgets. We are undergoing construction and renovations that will expand scientific inquiry and enhance student healthcare services. Inspired by our growth, Spelman will step into the 21st century with a gross value of its physical plant at $82,902,908 and net value after appreciation of $59,798,293.

A Legacy of Growth

The most obvious sign of development on the campus is the construction of the new $30.8 million Science Center with phase I due to be completed in May 2000. The renovation of Tapley Hall is scheduled for completion in early 2001. We are also renovating 9,000 square feet of existing space in MacVicar Hall which will house our Health Services and Counseling Services Departments.

Other division highlights of Business and Financial Affairs included:

- Closed on several land acquisition projects near the campus
- Appointed Roger Bruce as Director of Human Resources. A Morehouse graduate, Mr. Bruce returned to the AUC from industry
- Increased net assets of the College over the past five years by $69.4 million – from $172,427,055 to $241,818,048
- Increased the endowment by $57 million in five years, totaling $187 million
- Achieved a five percent default rate on student loans and joined the U.S. Department of Education's Honor Roll of institutions in compliance of Y2K testing on financial aid systems

Independent Auditors' Report

The Board of Trustees
Spelman College:

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Spelman College (the "College") as of June 30, 1999 and 1998, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the College's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the College at June 30, 1999 and 1998, and its changes in net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audits were made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information included on pages 14 through 16 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audits of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly presented in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

our generous investments in Spelman College have helped to create excellence in every aspect of the Institution. Spelman College has long served as a national treasure for educating African American women who lead and serve in every corner of the world. We continue to rank among the very best small private liberal arts colleges in the country. All of this would not be possible without your generosity, particularly to the Annual Fund.

*A Message from the 1998-99
Annual Fund
Chair*

The Annual Fund continues to make great strides. At the close of the fiscal year, the Annual Fund exceeded its goal of $4 million to raise $4,297,695. We are extremely grateful for the invaluable support received by all of our constituencies in this endeavor.

Our Campaign chairs and telefund students worked diligently to reach the goal. We contacted alumnae by telephone and mail and in turn you responded with a record high of $724,133. The Parents Campaign, led by Marcella and Terry Jones, exceeded its goal by 110 percent, and already they are excited about possibilities for next year. Of course, our faculty and staff could not go unrecognized. Their effort, led by Co-Chairs, Dr. Sylvia Bozeman, Associate Provost for Science and Mathematics, and Mr. Robert D. Flanigan, Vice President for Business and Financial Affairs and Treasurer, achieved a 41 percent participation rate – a 260 percent increase over 1997-98.

It has been a great year for the Annual Fund and it has been my pleasure to serve my alma mater for the past two years as the National Chair of the Annual Fund. As I close the year, I congratulate the new Chair, my Spelman sister, Dr. Aurelia Robinson, C'43, who I know will continue to achieve even greater heights for the Annual Fund.

Sincerely,

Rose Harris Johnson
