Spelman Names Building in Honor of 'Sister Prez' Johnnetta B. Cole

Spelman College paid tribute to its first Black woman president, Johnnetta B. Cole, by naming a prominent campus building in her honor. The Johnnetta Betch Cole Living & Learning Center II was dedicated on her 70th birthday, October 19, 2005.

Dr. Cole's historic appointment sparked an era of major growth for Spelman, the nation's largest historically Black college for women. She was its seventh president, and, as a career academic and renowned anthropologist, its first scholar-president as well.

Her most recent publication is Gender Talk: the Struggle for Women's Equality in African American Communities, co-authored with Dr. Beverly Guy-Sheftall, director of the Women's Center and Anna Julia Cooper Professor of women's studies at Spelman, as well as outgoing president of the Faculty Council. She recalls Dr. Cole's profound impact on the College's intellectual climate. "Spelman became an even more exciting place to teach and learn. We were a mecca for scholar/writer/activists such as Chinua Achebe, Graca Machel, Audre Lorde, Angela Davis, Sonia Sanchez, Mari Evans, Catherine Bateson, Anita Hill and bell hooks.

During her 1987–1997 tenure, Dr. Cole boosted the College's public profile and academic reputation, significantly increased its endowment and established several groundbreaking programs. She also strengthened Spelman's relationship with the business community by serving on several boards of directors including those of The Home Depot, Merck & Co. Inc. and NationsBank South. She was the first woman ever elected to the board of Coca-Cola Enterprises.

"It was a joy and a privilege to serve as the president of Spelman College for 10 years," Dr. Cole said. "I appreciate the acknowledgement of that service by the naming of the Living & Learning Center II in my honor."

Her hands-on leadership style and accessibility to students and faculty earned her the nickname "Sister Prez." During Dr. Cole's tenure, the College received the historic $20 million gift from Drs. William and Camille Cosby that supported the Camille Olivia Hanks Cosby Academic Center and the establishment of endowed chairs in the fine arts, social sciences and humanities; applications for admissions doubled, and Spelman received top rankings from several national

Artist Amalia Amaki Shakes the Winter Blues

Amalia Amaki: Boxes, Buttons and the Blues, featuring more than 70 mixed-media works by renowned Atlanta-based artist Amalia Amaki will be on view at the Spelman College Museum of Fine Art from January 26 through May 13, 2006. Dr. Amaki, (b. 1949), draws influence from sources as varied as singer Billie Holiday and surrealist photographer Man Ray. Amalia Amaki: Boxes, Buttons and the Blues, presented in three thematic sections, features photographs, quilts, souvenir fans, mixed media works and digitally manipulated photographs. Incorporating fabric, beads, pearls, buttons, paint and glitter, Dr. Amaki, in many of her works, turns found objects, photographs, and quilts into playful visual puns. Her beaded and button-encrusted heart-shaped candy boxes, for example, are full of tempting faux chocolates made from buttons.

A mid-career retrospective, this exhibition examines the breadth of Dr. Amaki's work, spanning more than three decades. Drawing from such sources as blues music, photography, familial history and American heritage, Dr. Amaki's work challenges traditional views of African American culture and focuses on positive images of African American life — love, loyalty, pride and strength. Dr. Amaki's work examines the cultural contributions that Black people continually make in America as well as addressing cultural issues relevant to African American life.

is published four times per academic year for a readership that includes alumnae, trustees, parents, students, faculty, staff and friends of the College. The newsletter is dedicated to informing our readers about news, upcoming events and issues in the life of the College.

Academic Excellence, Leadership Development, Improving Our Infrastructure, Visibility of Our Achievements, and Exemplary Customer Service are the five key components of the Spelman College strategic plan known by the acronym, Spelman ALIVE. We are working hard on all five areas, but this spring our focus on the "I" in ALIVE will be most noticeable as the renovation and expansion of Rockefeller Hall, the oldest building on campus, is now under way, and construction of a new residence hall will begin this spring. The Rockefeller project is the second phase of a two-part project, involving the renovation of both Packard Hall and Rockefeller Hall, initiated and approved by the Board of Trustees during Dr. Audrey Manley's tenure. This project has not only provided for improved customer service through the centralization of student administrative services in Packard Hall and the expansion of much-needed office space in Rockefeller Hall, but it has also insured the historic preservation of two of the oldest buildings on campus.

Dr. Beverly Daniel Tatum

Our newest building, approved by the Board of Trustees in October 2005, will preserve and enhance the residential character of our campus. Though many alumnae fondly recall their days in the dorms with their Spelman sisters, today more than 40 percent of our students commute to Spelman from off-campus apartments simply because we do not have enough on-campus housing to accommodate them. Though off-campus living offers a level of independence that some young women seek, a long and increasingly expensive commute discourages active campus involvement, limits the valuable interactions with faculty outside the classroom and reduces the opportunity for the close-knit relationships among Spelman women that are the hallmarks of a Spelman education. Further, our goal of recruiting and retaining excellent students is hampered when we cannot assure anxious parents that we can provide housing for their daughter for at least the first two years of her college experience. For this reason, increasing our on-campus housing capacity has been a high priority for me.

Scheduled to open in August 2007, our new residence hall will house approximately 300 students in apartment-style suites, changing our current housing capacity from 57 percent to 70 percent of our student population. Though we expect most of the residents of the two-, three- or four-bedroom suites will be upper-class students, the additional space will create the room we need to house all of our first-year and sophomore students, who will be required to live on campus beginning in 2007. Because our current cafeteria is too small to accommodate an additional 300 campus residents, a dining facility will be included as part of the new housing complex. Also included will be an adjacent power plant to meet the heating and cooling needs of the new building as well as any future construction on the west side of the campus.

This ambitious construction project represents the first expansion of the Spelman College campus beyond the current gates. In 2004, we were successful in purchasing some property adjacent to the campus that includes a large parking lot (next to the Lee Street campus entrance), the Milligan office building (which is currently housing the displaced Rockefeller Hall administrators) and a large parcel of vacant land which lies behind the Stewart and Cole Living and Learning Centers and runs parallel to Westview Drive across from the Morehouse School of Medicine. The landscaping plan for the project will create a new pedestrian walkway from the central campus to this new section, and the elegant fence which encircles Spelman will be removed and restored around the new boundary of our expanding campus.

Given our current financial status ("healthy but not wealthy"), it would be natural to ask how we will pay for this project, expected to cost approximately $50 million. Our plan is to borrow the money by issuing a bond in early 2006, to be repaid over many years with the revenue generated from the room and board. We must also continue to focus on the twin goals of increasing our endowment through leadership gifts and augmenting our annual funds to support the increase in our operating expenses that a new building represents. Taking on additional debt of this magnitude must always be done with caution; however, we are confident that our financial plan is sound. The need for more housing is urgent if we are to maintain a high-quality residential experience for our students.

So the next time you visit our beautiful campus, you may find us living with the noise and mud of major construction projects. Though never convenient, these are exciting signs of progress toward our goal of making sure that Spelman College is nothing less than the best – strong and vital well into the 21st century. ●

Hip Hop Week at Spelman College

A Critical Analysis and Celebration of the Culture

Spelman College and hip hop pioneer MC Lyte joined forces, October 31 – November 4, 2005, to host a series of events focused on women and hip hop, and the impact this popular culture is having on youth in urban, suburban, rural and global communities. The weeklong series included panel discussions, guest lectures, events organized by the student organizations SisterFire and The Hip Hop Collective, a conversation between Cosby Endowed Professor Pearl Cleage and hip hop pioneer MC Lyte, a surprise performance by musical artist India.Arie and an impromptu performance demonstrating the finer points of rapping by MC Lyte.

During the conversation between Pearl Cleage and MC Lyte, author/playwright/feminist/activist Cleage asked MC Lyte about the role race plays in relation to the images and messages that are popular in hip hop today. “White kids in the suburbs are making hip hop popular . . . being one of its largest consumer groups,” explained Lyte. “Young white consumers are making these artists popular and getting them on the cover of national magazines.” In addition, Lyte opined that young women “are not quite sure what behavior is acceptable from young men, and they’re getting their answers from hip hop music and videos.”

Cleage asked what special role students of historically Black colleges and universities can play in countering the negative images that are popularized in some hip hop music and videos. Lyte responded, “They can get involved with elementary and middle school students and offer them their knowledge. They can give the kids something to look up to by getting involved in the community.”

The week of activities was especially meaningful in the wake of the October 12, 2005, passing of C. Delores Tucker, who was one of the first Black women to candidly and publicly address the issue of negative, hypersexual imagery in hip hop music on a national scale.

Other special guests who participated in Hip Hop Week programs included rap artists Chuck D., Cheryl “Salt” James, YoYo, Da Brat, actor/musician Malcolm Jamal Warner, actor Darryl “Chill” Mitchell, hip hop historian/journalist/DJ Davey D. and cultural critic Joan Morgan (author of When Chickenheads Come Home to Roost: A Hip Hop Feminist Breaks It Down) as well as Paul Porter, filmmaker Byron Hurt and Spelman College faculty members William Jelani Cobb, assistant professor of history, and Dr. Tarshia Stanley, assistant professor of English.

A remarkable success, Hip Hop Week attracted more than 2,500 students and guests from the community at large, and generated national media coverage in such outlets as CNN, BET, National Public Radio, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, CBS 46, Fox 5, WSB-TV, WXIA-11 Alive, and the Associated Press Wire Service. ●

TWO TIMES THREE

Class of 2009 Boasts Three Sets of Twin Biology Majors

All Spelman women are sisters in spirit. Some Spelman women are sisters by birth. However, for a select few Spelman freshmen women, sisterhood has become something exponential, transcending body and spirit. These would be three sets of twins. Fall semester, these three sets of twins presented Spelman College with a unique equation – all of these freshmen siblings are biology majors. It would take a geneticist, a mathematician, and a genealogist working together to calculate the odds of this happening at a small, private, historically Black, women’s college in the laboratories of the Albro-Manley-Falconer Science Center.

Indeed, Sasha and Asia Curry, Britney and Whitney Hale, and Megan and Morgan Hall are excited to be at Spelman and glad to share the experience with a twin sister. Although none of the girls has close friends or family members who are alumnae, they were all drawn to Spelman for the same reasons. Attending a historically Black college was high on their list. Experiencing life in Atlanta was a close second.

“We wanted to go away to college, without being too far from home,” explained fraternal twins Asia and Sasha Curry, from Columbus, Georgia. They felt that Spelman would give them the right balance of independence and

Three sets of twins, all Spelman biology majors, are pictured left to right: Britney Hale, Asia Curry, Megan Hall, Morgan Hall, Sasha Curry and Whitney Hale. don’t,” said Britney. “I think we each feel very much like individuals. But we’re still sisters, and we’re really close.” Staying close to their Lilburn, Georgia, home was another advantage.

Identical twins Morgan and Megan Hall had relocated from Phoenix, Arizona, to Charlotte, North Carolina, when it was time to choose a college. The sisters visited Spelman during a Multiple births are, after all, on the rise.

Between 1980 and 1999, the overall multiple birth ratio increased 59 percent, according to the March of Dimes. The highest rate of fraternal twins, at about one in 70, occurs among African Americans. The Yoruba tribe of Nigeria has the highest twinning rate in the world, with one set of twins in every 24 births. Among our security as they transitioned from adolescence to adulthood. The sisters share a dormitory room – and the same class schedule.

Fraternal twins Whitney and Britney Hale live with a bit more autonomy, as they were frequently placed in separate classes while growing up. One year, they even attended separate schools, but they were clear about attending the same college. Of all the colleges that accepted both girls, Spelman was tops. While attending Spelman, they were drawn to campus life and recognized the value of attending an HBCU. “Even though we share a room, it’s not like we just have to be together all the time, ’cause we college weekend and immediately fell in love with the campus. “This was the place,” said Morgan. “We like Atlanta, too, and Charlotte is not too far away,” echoes Megan.

Like any sisters, the twins talk about having typical sibling rivalries – which one is smarter, who has the best hair, and which is the shy one and who’s more outgoing – but their loyalty to one another is abundantly clear. And, while they each possess a sense of individuality, there’s no denying their special bond. Get them all talking together, and you’ll witness communication on a uniquely shared wavelength.

The subject of biology invariably comes up.

own twins, only the Curry family has an extensive family history of multiple births. None of their mothers took fertility drugs.

Is all this what inspired our twins to study zygotes, genomes and nature vs. nurture? They would say not really – at least, not yet. For now, Asia and Sasha want to work with infants or young children as nurse practitioners or pediatricians. Britney and Whitney would like to be physicians, and Morgan and Megan would like to study obstetrics and gynecology at Emory University School of Medicine. After school, each expects to share a practice with her twin.

Academics Achievements & Awards

Ms. Barbara Nesin, associate professor of art, made a presentation titled "Art in Times of Trouble" at the annual conference of the Haitian Studies Association in October 2005.

The research of Dr. Marshalita Sims Peterson, associate professor of education, facilitated the opening of University Community Academy charter school (Atlanta Public Schools) located in the Atlanta West End community in August 2002. She continues to work with the academy through the Charter School Initiative that includes professional development activities and after-school programming. The current enrollment of the charter school, serving children in grades K–8, is 360. Also, Dr. Peterson serves as co-advisor for the "Beyond the Gates Reading Enrichment Program" sponsored by Ms. Spelman College and The Spelman Court. The program provides Saturday enrichment activities in the areas of literacy and integrated content for children in grades K–5. Also, Dr. Peterson has established a partnership with the DeKalb County School System through a Teacher & Student Support Initiative. In addition to working directly with three high schools in DeKalb County, Dr. Peterson has initiated a Junior Teacher Academy that provides professional development/instructional support activities and college-bound activities for students in DeKalb County.

Dr. Colm Mulcahy, associate professor of mathematics, was the banquet speaker at the Mathematical Association of America Seaway Section meeting at the State University of New York Geneseo on October 28, 2005, in Geneseo, New York. The title of his speech was "Eine Kleine Nachtmagie."

Professor Ayoka Chenzira, director of the Digital Moving Image Salon at Spelman, spent the week of December 6–13, 2005, in Rouen, France. She was invited to participate as a panelist in the "Corps de Textes" ("Bodies of Text") Festival dedicated to contemporary creation in North America. Professor Chenzira screened several of her films at the University of Rouen and engaged in discussion after the screenings.

Ms. Sheilaree McDaniel, administrative assistant for Career Planning and Development, received a master of education in instructional technology from American Intercontinental University on June 18, 2005.

Clayton State technology management major Ms. Katina Henderson-Hawkins, research analyst for Spelman Institutional Advancement, received a $3,000 scholarship from the Georgia Executive Women's Network. She graduated with an associate of applied technology degree in criminal justice from DeKalb Technical College and transferred to the Clayton School of Technology bachelor of applied science program. She plans to attend law school upon completion of her bachelor's degree.

Shevann Monet Culmer, a junior with a double major in international studies and Spanish, will spend spring semester 2006 in Seville, Spain, thanks to an International Studies Program Scholarship from the Council on International Educational Exchange.

Junior drama major Keosha Y. Thomas will have the opportunity to spend an entire semester in the United Kingdom thanks to the Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship Program. She recently won the $5,000 Gilman Scholarship to study at Goldsmith College of the University of London through Arcadia University. This fall at Spelman, Ms. Thomas appeared in the drama State of Mind and worked behind the scenes as the costume coordinator for the play Blues for an Alabama Sky by Pearl Cleage, C'71, playwright, novelist and Spelman's 2005–2006 Cosby endowed professor in the humanities.

Appointments

Dr. Sherry L. Turner, former assistant to the president and secretary of the College, has been appointed to serve as interim vice president for Student Development.

A. Michelle Smith, C'69, has been appointed assistant to the president and interim secretary of the College.

In November 2005, Ms. Olivia Scriven, special adviser to Institutional Advancement, was invited to serve on the Steering Committee of the Pfizer Women's Health Initiative. Pfizer awarded the College $300,000 for a three-year project that includes the Pfizer Lecture Series. The series features prominent Black women physicians and researchers.

Ms. Tomika DePriest, C'89, executive director of public relations/communications has been selected to represent the College in the Metro Atlanta Arts Coalition Leadership Development Program, the first-ever collaboration among local governments, companies, foundations and arts organizations to support arts and culture in the Atlanta region. The mission of MAAC? is to make the Atlanta region a premier center for the arts and have it recognized as such.

Dr. Desiree Pedescleaux, dean of undergraduate studies, was elected president of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists and will assume her office in Atlanta at the annual meeting in March 2006.

Performances & Published Works

Dr. Karen Brakke, assistant professor of psychology, has two upcoming publications. The first is a peer-reviewed article by Brakke, K.; Fragaszy, D.M.; Simpson, K.; Hoy, E. & Cummins Sebree, S. (in press). The article, "The Production of Bimanual Percussion in 2 to 24 Month-Old Children," will appear in Infant Behavior and Development. The second is a book chapter by Brakke, K.; Wilson, J.H., & Bradley, D.V. (in press), "Beyond Basics: Enhancing Undergraduate Statistics Education," in Best Practices in Teaching Research Methods and Statistics in Psychology, edited by D. Dunn, R. Smith & B. Beins.

From November 2005 through April 2006, the Spelman College music department is presenting the Harrel-James Organ Recital Series to showcase the recently refurbished Holtkamp pipe organ in the newly renovated historic Sisters Chapel. The recitals will include Dr. Joyce F. Johnson, Spelman professor of music and college organist for more than 50 years, on January 22, 2006, at 4 p.m. and Spelman alumna Rebecca Hull Brown, C'75, organist at St. John The Evangelist Catholic Church, on April 22, 2006, at 12 p.m. The recitals are free and open to the public.

Dr. Marshalita Sims Peterson, associate professor of education, has published the following articles: (1) "The Ethical Dilemmas of High Stakes Testing and Issues for Teacher Preparation Programs," which appeared in the Journal of College and Character of October 2005; (2) "No Child Left Behind and the Mixed Mechanism of Culture, Curriculum and Pedagogy," which appeared in the September 2005 issue of MultiCultural Review, and (3) "Peer Victimization: Creating a Culture for Learning and Safe Classroom Communities," which appeared in the August 2005 Special Issue of Journal of Social Sciences. In addition, Dr. Peterson is the author and co-editor of the book Instructing and Mentoring the African American College Student: Strategies for Success in Higher Education. In October 2005, she appeared on the Connect With Kids Network, which feeds to 70 affiliate stations throughout the United States, discussing the importance of classroom size in the primary years.

Ms. Laura English-Robinson, C'69, lecturer of music, has released a CD project, Great Day, a recording of Negro spirituals arranged for solo voice by Uzee Brown Jr. Published by Roger Dean Publishing Company (The Lorenz Corporation), this collaborative project features Ms. English-Robinson, soprano, as well as bass baritone Uzee Brown Jr. and mezzo-soprano Crystal Harris, C'91. Ms. English Robinson has five songs on the CD, including the first one, her rendition of "Ain't That Good News!"

Ms. Barbara Nesin, associate professor of art, was a participating visual artist in "Café Medusa," a female-centered evening of performance, visual art, spoken word, drama, poetry, fiction, food, books, music, dance, song and film/video. The event was held at 7 Stages Theatre on November 19, 2005, in Atlanta. Ms. Nesin's article "The Influence of Native American and African American Encounters on Haitian Art," was published in the Journal of Haitian Studies (University of California, Santa Barbara).

Dr. Beatriz Cardelino, professor of chemistry, has published the following article: "Advanced Computational Modeling for Growing III-V Materials in a High-Pressure Chemical Vapor-Deposition Reactor;" B.H. Cardelino, C.E. Moore, C.A. Cardelino, N. Dietz; in "Operational Characteristics and Crystal Growth of Nonlinear Optical Materials II," R. B. Lal and D. O. Frazier, editors; Proceedings of the International Society for Optical Engineering (SPIE) Vol. 5912, 59120F1-14 (2005).

Dr. Marta Dark McNeese, assistant professor of physics, has published an article, "Using Science Fiction Movies in Introductory Physics," in the October 2005 issue of The Physics Teacher.

On November 8, 2005, Dr. Harry G. Lefever, professor emeritus of sociology, was invited by the Association of Emory Alumni (AEA) Book Club and the Caucus of Emory Black Alumni (CEBA) to discuss his book, Undaunted by the Fight: Spelman College and the Civil Rights Movement 1957–1967.

Other highlights of her administration include the College’s most successful capital campaign and the establishment of several major initiatives. The capital campaign exceeded its original goal of $81 million to raise an unprecedented $113,885,250, boosting Spelman’s endowment to $141 million, among the largest for historically Black colleges and universities. The major initiatives included the Mentorship Program and Corporate Women’s Roundtable, the Sumiko Takahara Japanese Studies program, the International Affairs Center for the Atlanta University Center, the Mickey Leland Scholars Program, the Bonners Scholars Program for Community Service and the Dow Jones-Spelman Entrepreneurial Center. Dr. Cole also presided over the restructuring of curriculum, academic affairs and faculty governance as well as an increase in the number of credits required for graduation.

“It is impossible to overstate the importance of Johnnetta Cole’s tenure at Spelman College. As our first Black woman president, she made our dreams of female leadership and empowerment a reality,” said acclaimed author/playwright Pearl Cleage, a member of the Spelman Class of 1971, and the current Cosby Chair in the humanities. “Her work as an activist, administrator and feminist energized both the faculty and the student body. Her service, not only to the campus, but to the city of Atlanta and nationally, is a model of engaged scholarship and creative civic involvement.”

After leaving Spelman, Dr. Cole returned to her first love – teaching – in 1998 as presidential distinguished professor of anthropology, women’s studies and African American studies at Emory University. She retired from that position in 2001.

In 2002, she received a call to help save the nation’s other historically Black college for women, Spelman’s sister school, Bennett College for Women in Greensboro, North Carolina. She now serves as Bennett’s 14th president.

The Johnnetta Betch Cole Living & Learning Center II is a $7.8 million multipurpose facility that features 200 student beds plus three apartments for visiting lecturers and College guests. It also houses Spelman’s Continuing Education program. The architectural firm Nix Mann Viehman designed the building. ●

Amalia Amaki is an artist, art historian, curator and scholar of American art and culture. Perhaps best known for mixed media quilts that celebrate the lives of African American women blues singers and for button-encrusted cyanotypes, Dr. Amaki is also recognized for commissions completed for Atlanta Hartsfield Airport, Absolut Vodka, and Seagram’s Gin. She earned a bachelor’s degree in journalism from Georgia State University, a bachelor’s degree in photography and painting from the University of New Mexico, and a doctorate from the Graduate Institute of Liberal Arts at Emory University. Currently she is the scholar-in-residence at Spelman College, the curator of the Paul R. Jones Collection and an assistant professor in art, art history, and Black American studies at the University of Delaware. Her work is in the permanent collections at numerous museums including the High Museum of Art in Atlanta, the National Museum of Women in the Arts (NMWA) in Washington, D.C., the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, the Minnesota Museum of Art in St. Paul, Emory University and the Spelman College Museum of Fine Art.

Amalia Amaki: Boxes, Buttons and the Blues is generously sponsored by The Coca-Cola Company. Major support is also provided by the Fulton County Board of Commissioners under the guidance of the Fulton County Arts Council. Additional support is provided by the Massey Charitable Trust and the LUBO Fund, Inc. Official media sponsors are The Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the Atlanta Daily World.

A color catalogue – including scholarly essays by Dr. Andrea D. Barnwell, director of Spelman College Museum of Fine Art, Dr. Leslie King-Hammond, dean of graduate studies at The Maryland Institute College of Art, and Dr. Gloria Wade-Gayles, the eminent scholar’s chair in independent study at Spelman College – accompanies the exhibition. Co-published by NMWA and Spelman in association with University of Washington Press, this 136-page book includes a fully illustrated checklist. The hard-cover edition retails for $35.

The Spelman College Museum of Fine Art is the only museum in the nation that focuses on works by and about women of the African Diaspora. Since it was established in 1996, the Museum has received awards from prestigious organizations including The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts, the Fulton County Arts Council, the Institute of Museums and Library Services, the Museum Loan Network, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Peter Norton Family Foundation, the Getty Foundation and the Henry Luce Foundation, Inc.

It has also received a host of accolades including the “Best Museum Off Peachtree” (Creative Loafing December 2004); one of the city’s “Fabulous Five Museums” by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution (July 2005); and the “Best Kept Museum Secrets” (Atlanta Magazine, December 2005).

The Spelman College Museum of Fine Art is open Tuesdays through Fridays from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm and on Saturdays from 12:00 pm to 4:00 pm. The Museum is closed Sunday, Monday, holidays and Spelman College breaks. It is located on the first floor of the Camille Olivia Hanks Cosby Academic Center. ### Independent Auditors' Report

The Board of Trustees
Spelman College:

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Spelman College (the College) as of June 30, 2005 and 2004, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the College's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the College's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the College as of June 30, 2005 and 2004, and changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

2004–2005 Donor Honor Roll

JULY 1, 2004 – JUNE 30, 2005

Greetings:

The generosity of the donors listed on the 2004–2005 Honor Roll is the primary reason that Spelman College can continue its noble work as the leading educator of women of African descent. These gifts directly impact the educational experiences of young scholars at Spelman, who go forth qualified and equipped to lead and serve.

Our wish is for every contributor to understand and know that investing in Spelman offers a rate of return far greater than one could ever imagine.

Thank you for taking advantage of this and every opportunity to support the College.

For the good of Spelman,

Elaine Abernathy Alexis

Reunion 2005 Alumnae Donors Recognized at Spelman Donor Appreciation Reception

Each year, Spelman honors alumnae during their reunion year whose giving provides the lifeblood of the College. At the Donor Appreciation Reception, the College takes the opportunity to honor the philanthropic spirit of alumnae.

Throughout the celebration, Spelman's message is that every gift counts and that the combined giving from alumnae donors provides a solid financial foundation for the College.

Special recognition was given to those who were members of the 1881 Society. Donors who made gifts of $5,000 or more and Guardian Society members (those who made provisions for Spelman to receive planned gifts) were acknowledged during a special festooning ceremony where they received silk scarves commissioned by the College for this occasion.

Sisters Chapel Campaign Supporters Recognized

The newly renovated historic Sisters Chapel was officially presented to the Spelman community, alumnae and friends of the College on Saturday, September 24, 2005. Since 1927, Sisters Chapel has served as a catalyst for leadership development and has been the spiritual center of the Spelman community. The Rededication Program, which began a two-day celebration, paid special tribute to the 638 donors who contributed over $3.5 million to the Sisters Chapel Campaign – Revival of the Spirit; more than 500 of the donors were alumnae. Through the generosity of these donors, the integrity of Sisters Chapel will be preserved for years to come thereby enabling Spelman College to continue to embrace its students as well as the Atlanta community. Donors to each of the Campaign's naming opportunities (from $100 - $1 million) were recognized and presented with appreciation gifts.

Planned Gifts

A Source for Increased Scholarship Support

Alumnae and friends of the College are providing scholarship assistance for Spelman students through planned gifts. Cherie Stawasz, the owner of a New York public relations firm, had never visited Spelman's campus nor was she acquainted with a professor or alumnae of the College. However, she heard of Spelman and identified with its mission to empower young women of color. While terminally ill, she made provisions for the College to receive a bequest of $737,188 for scholarship support from her estate. Ms. Stawasz succumbed to cancer in 2004.

The Ida Gartrell Peterson and Roosevelt Peterson Endowed Scholarship was established under the terms of the will of the late Dr. Ida Gartrell Peterson, C'46. Dr. Peterson was a former Spelman College faculty member. Distributions from the trust totaled $87,000 to date and will provide scholarships for students pursuing a degree in education.

Alumnae Giving by Class

Alumnae support enables the College to make great strides and allows Spelman women the opportunity to demonstrate a personal commitment to their alma mater. This listing recognizes alumnae contributors by class years, showing both total giving and the percentage of participation for each class. Collectively, alumnae contributed $1.2 million in the 2004-2005 fiscal year, with 2,706 donors or 21 percent of alumnae participating. Alumnae giving in fiscal year 2005 was the most successful to date. We are grateful to those who made these achievements possible.

REUNION 2005 EXCEEDS $500,000 GOAL !!!!

There was excitement in the atmosphere throughout the evening of the Reunion Banquet in anticipation of the class gift presentations. At last, the moment came when a representative for each reuniting class came forward to present their class gift. Following the presentations, Dr. Beverly Daniel Tatum was elated to announce that reuniting alumnae raised a grand total of $596,729, exceeding the $500,000 Reunion Giving Goal.

Listed below are giving totals and class participation percentages announced at the Reunion Banquet.

CLASS	CLASS GIFT	DONOR PARTICIPATION
1925	$ 100	33%
1930	$ 100	14%

“Will Ever Faithful Be . . .
 Throughout Eternity”

These words from our noble hymn, sung by many Spelman women throughout history, communicates to us that we, as daughters of our dear alma mater, must be faithful, diligent, and enthusiastic to assist our institution in whatever way possible to ensure its duration . . . throughout eternity.

As a recent graduate of Spelman College Class of 2004, I can recall my encounter with dear Spelman as I made my way to my dorm. The feelings of angst, excitement and somewhat of sorrow all filled me as I said goodbye to my weeping parents and embraced an experience that would eventually change me forever. My four years are very memorable, but more than anything, I remember my professors that would not let me quit, who pushed me to my highest and most immense potential, and refused to have anything less than my best.

And as I reflect on my many experiences, I realize that my good days far outweighed the bad ones. I made lifelong friendships with some of the greatest women the world has seen. We were taught by some of the most passionate and well-renowned professors in their respective fields of knowledge, and we are well prepared. Spelman has prepared me for future endeavors in regards to my career goals, but more than anything, I am prepared for my destiny. I say this most sincerely, “If it were not for Spelman, where would I be?”

For all of these reasons, I give back to Spelman College. I feel I owe Spelman, my alma mater, my financial support and gratitude. I will continue to give back, because Spelman has given so much to me.

Tamika L. Sea, Class of 2004 made her first gift to Spelman College as an alumna in the 2004-2005 fiscal year. She is a second-year medical student at University of Tennessee Memphis, where she plans to become an OB-GYN.

Spelman College and Pfizer, Inc: A Partnership to Improve Global Women's Health

African American and other women of color disproportionately suffer from what the National Institutes of Health have described as the "burden of disease and death." HIV/AIDS, obesity, diabetes, kidney failure, heart disease, and breast and cervical cancer are among a litany of often preventable diseases which increasing impact Black women, robbing our families, communities, and the nation of leadership and talent.

As part of its commitment to corporate citizenship and community improvement, Pfizer, Inc. has awarded the Spelman College Women's Research and Resource Center a $300,000 grant focused on Global Women's Health. The project's goal is to focus attention on the health status of African-descended and other women of color and to make a positive impact through collaborative research, curriculum development, and service-learning efforts. The grant also supports the women's health concentration, the newest component of the Comparative Women's Studies major. Prof. Aline Gubrium, Assistant Professor of Women's Studies, has been hired to teach courses related to women's health, while Dr. Lisa Egbuonu-Davis, the first Pfizer Medical Scholar-in-Residence, teaches a seminar on "Health Disparities," and spearheads the inaugural Pfizer Lecture Series. As part of that series, Elizabeth Ofili, M.D., M.P.H., Director of Clinical Research Center and Chief of Cardiology at the Morehouse School of Medicine, spoke to a standing-room only audience of faculty and students on "African American Women and Cardiovascular Health." The second lecturer was Claudia Baquet, M.D., M.P.H., Professor of Medicine, Associate Dean for Policy and Planning, and Director of the University of Maryland's Medical School Center for Health Disparities Research Outreach and Training, who spoke on "Reducing Cancer Health Disparities."

Other the next three years, the Women's Center will implement a number of other activities, including a week-long Summer Institute in 2007 to help faculty at other HBCUs explore strategies for incorporating women's health issues into the social sciences, humanities, and natural sciences curricula at their respective institutions. One of the most rewarding aspects of the Global Women's Health project is the support it provides to students. Adrienne Brown, a 2005 computer science graduate of Spelman, was the first Pfizer Scholar. Brown received support for study this summer at the University of Cape Town, South Africa before entering a doctoral program in biomedical engineering where she hopes to research health technologies that improve women's health. The Women's Center will name two additional undergraduate Pfizer Scholars this academic year and another six before the grant concludes in 2007. The culminating event of the project is a student-organized conference on women's health.

The Pfizer Global Women's Health initiative continues Spelman's long history of producing African American women in science and the health professions. Georgia Dwelle Rooks, the first Spelman alumna to attend medical school and founder of the first obstetrical hospital for black women in the city of Atlanta, is representative of this long standing tradition.

The Pfizer project is under the direction of Beverly Guy-Sheftall, the Anna Julia Cooper Professor of Women's Studies and Director of the Women's Research and Resource Center. The Women's Center has been engaged in similar efforts to foster cross disciplinary collaborations between the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences, as well as facilitate collaborations with other universities and organizations in the area of women's health. In 1999, the Women's Center receive a $250,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to strengthen the women's studies major by inaugurating a new women's health concentration and enhancing the natural sciences curricula by mainstreaming a range of race and gender issues into the natural science curricula. More recently, the Women's Center, with support from the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), ExxonMobil and Pfizer sponsored an international conference on "Women, Girls, and HIV/AIDS in Africa and the African Diaspora," which took place in June 2004. Delegations of scholars, healthcare professionals, community activists, graduate students and women living with AIDS attended from the Caribbean, Brazil, South Africa, and West Africa.

Pfizer, Inc. is the world's largest research-based pharmaceutical firm devoted to healthcare. In May, the Pfizer Foundation announced a new grant program aimed at preventing the spread of HIV/AIDS in the southern United States, with particular focus on under-served African-American and Latino communities in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

"Comprehensive HIV/AIDS prevention programs focused on communities most at risk are our best defense against this deadly disease," said Hank McKinnell, member of The Pfizer Foundation Board of Directors and Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Pfizer Inc. "By partnering with organizations in small towns and big cities across the South, we hope to help slow the increasing incidence of HIV/AIDS." The Pfizer project enables Spelman College to contribute to the eradication of HIV/AIDS and other diseases that disproportionately impact people of color around the globe.

A Day of Recognition and Appreciation

On Thursday, April 21, 2005, Spelman students and scholarship donors enjoyed a special day of recognition and appreciation. The occasion was the Honors Day Convocation and Scholarship Donors Appreciation Luncheon. These annual programs acknowledge the academic achievements of Spelman students and the generosity of alumnae, friends, trustees, and corporations who sponsor scholarships for deserving students. Scholarship supporters were invited to attend the Honors Day Convocation held in the Camille O. Hanks Cosby Auditorium with guest speaker, The Honorable Daphne Walker, C'94, Chief Judge, Clayton Country Magistrate Court. Immediately following the Convocation, scholarship recipients join with their scholarship benefactors for lunch in the Johnnetta Betch Cole Living and Learning Center, II. During the luncheon program, guests were deeply moved by the inspirational remarks made by scholarship recipients Shamin Okolloh, C'2005 and Maxine Thompson, C'2005. As a souvenir of the occasion, each scholarship contributor received a framed photograph of her scholarship recipient.

A life remembered through the Dr. Tujuana Davie Badgett Scholarship

The Dr. Tujuana Davie Badgett Memorial Scholarship Fund was established in June 2004 to commemorate the life of Tujuana Davie Badgett C'89. Margie Davie started the Badgett Scholarship which provides financial assistance to a Spelman student pursuing a career in medicine to honor her late daughter. Tujuana graduated from Newnan High in 1985 and remains the only Black valedictorian in the school's history. She completed her undergraduate degree from Spelman in three years and graduated magna cum laude. She was accepted for early admission to Boston University School of Medicine and served as chief resident of Ob-Gyn at the University for three years. Torrice Davie Smith, sister of Tujuana, is happy the scholarship will honor her successful, caring and well-respected sister. "She really excelled at Spelman," she said of Tujuana. "When my sister passed last year, we wanted to do something that would keep her alive in everyone's memory. The object is to aid a Spelman student en route to her goal of becoming a medical professional," "Tujuana was a very giving person. We wanted to continue that process of giving because Spelman gave her so much," says Mrs. Davie. The family will continue to raise funds to support and increase the scholarship fund in order to endow the scholarship in the future. The family attended the Honors Convocation and Scholarship Appreciation Luncheon in April 2005 where they met the first recipient of the Dr. Tujuana Davie Badgett Memorial Scholarship, LaTiffany Gordon, a biology/pre-med major. She has a 3.7 grade point average and received a $2,000 award to further her studies. LaTiffany's goal is to become a trauma surgeon and to give back to the world what has been invested in her future.

Dear Family, Friends and Associates

In an effort to keep the rich legacy of our beloved daughter and sister alive, we are establishing the Dr. Tujuana Davie Badgett M.D. Memorial Scholarship Fund. We are seeking your financial assistance in this worthwhile goal. This scholarship is a Spelman College Endowed fund, that will remain on Spelman's campus forever, furnishing young women an opportunity to touch and enrich lives near and far for generations to come. In order to qualify for an endowed scholarship we must secure $25,000.00. Will you join in this enormous yet beneficial endeavor?

Our family will always honor the rich heritage that Spelman College represents. In 1987, Spelman under the leadership of Dr. Johnetta B. Cole chose Tujuana along with several other motivated young ladies to attend the Boston University's Early Admission to Medical School in Boston Massachusetts. This event helped to open the path to her unprecedented success. It is because of this and many other reasons we feel indebted to this great institution who identifies, encourages, enlightens, and rewards young women for their exceptional ability.

Please make The Dr. Tujuana Davie Badgett Memorial Endowed Scholarship a priority in your charitable giving. Our effort will not be complete without your generous tax deductible gift and that of your family and friends. We are hoping that you will make this an annual donation.

The enclosed brochure provides more information. From the very depth of our hearts, we thank you for your gift.

With Warm Regards,

Margie Davie & Kenneth Davie
