HISTORY OF SPELMAN COLLEGE

Sophia B. Packard and Harriet E. Giles, missionary teachers from New England, founded Spelman College. With one hundred dollars, eleven students, and an offer from Father Frank Quarles to use the basement of Friendship Baptist Church, Packard and Giles established the Atlanta Baptist Female Seminary on April 11, 1881, to provide education and training for recently freed female slaves.

The philanthropy of John D. Rockefeller enabled the school to purchase nine acres and five frame buildings. In 1884, as an expression of gratitude to its generous donor, the school changed its name to Spelman Seminary in honor of the parents of his wife, Laura Spelman Rockefeller. Through the vision and self-sacrifice of Packard, the seminary was granted a state charter in 1888. Upon Packard's death in 1891, Giles became its president. During her years of service (1891–1910), enrollment grew to 800 pupils, and the curriculum expanded to incorporate instruction in secondary and collegiate programming that included teacher, missionary, and nurse training.

From 1910 to 1953, the institution experienced unprecedented growth during the presidencies of Lucy Hale Tapley (1910–1927) and Florence Matilda Read (1927–1953). In 1924, Spelman became a four-year liberal arts college and made substantial strides in its curriculum and organization. Perhaps the most significant event of this time was the signing of the “Agreement of Affiliation” in 1929 by Spelman, Morehouse College, and Atlanta University. The agreement served as the foundation upon which the Atlanta University Center was established in 1947.

In 1953, Spelman began a new legacy of leadership when Albert Edward Manley, EdD, became the first male and first African American to lead the institution. During his administration (1953–1976), the College increased enrollment, enlarged the physical plant, and established programs that broadened the educational experience. Dr. Manley's successor, Donald Mitchell Stewart, PhD (1976–1986), augmented this formidable legacy by enhancing academic programming, strengthening the faculty, and tripling the College's endowment.

In 1987, Johnnetta Betsch Cole, PhD, became the first African American woman president of Spelman. During her tenure (1987–1997), she initiated programs that strengthened ties between the College and local, national, and international constituencies. The Spelman Campaign: Initiatives for the Nineties was successfully completed in 1996 by raising $113.8 million, making it the largest campaign in the history of Black college fundraising at the time.

Spelman recorded another historic moment in its annals in 1997 as Audrey Forbes Manley, MD, C'55, became the first alumna to take the helm as its eighth president. Under her leadership, the College transitioned into the twenty-first century by implementing strategic planning, improving infrastructure, enhancing technology, expanding community partnerships, and increasing its endowment. In 2000, the state-of-the-art $33.9 million Albro Falconer Manley Science Center was completed.

In 2002, Beverly Daniel Tatum, PhD, began her tenure as the ninth president of Spelman College. In 2008, the Gordon-Zeto Fund for International Initiatives was established with a gift of $17 million, which helped increase opportunities for international travel for students and faculty and provided additional financial aid for international students. Dr. Tatum also facilitated the completion of the most successful capital campaign in Spelman's history, raising an unprecedented $157.8 million. In addition, she oversaw the completion of The Suites, later named in her honor The Beverly Daniel Tatum Suites, the first LEED Silver certified “green” residence hall on the campus of a historically Black college or university.

HISTORY OF SPELMAN COLLEGE

In March of 2015, Mary Schmidt Campbell, PhD, was named Spelman's tenth president. Dr. Campbell viewed Spelman as a "necessity" to "reach an ideal of equality," so she launched "Imagine. Invent. Ascend," a bold new strategic vision for educating Black women for the twenty-first century. Leading the College through transformative change and the unprecedented global COVID-19 pandemic, she worked tirelessly to ensure that every Spelman student graduates with a competitive edge. She expanded the College's strategic partnerships and deepened its excellence in STEM by wedding it to art, innovation, and technology. To support this vision, the College, under Dr. Campbell's leadership, raised more than $339 million, the largest comprehensive campaign in Spelman's history.

The construction of a new 84,000-square-foot Mary Schmidt Campbell Center for Innovation and the Arts was the culminating activity of Dr. Campbell's tenure. The first new academic facility to be built on the campus in 25 years, the building will serve as the College's "front porch," opening the campus to the Westside community.

On July 1, 2022, Helene D. Gayle, MD, MPH, was named Spelman's eleventh president. At her investiture in April of 2023, Dr. Gayle committed herself to working with the Spelman community to change the lives of those who will change the lives of others. She said, "Now, more than ever we need Spelman women who are ready to be in the room and at the table where decisions about our future, our collective destiny, are being made."

2024 marked 100 years since Spelman Baptist Seminary became Spelman College. At the convocation celebrating this milestone, the College announced the receipt of a $100 million historic gift from longtime Spelman trustee and philanthropist Ronda Stryker and her husband, William Johnston. The gift is the largest individual donation ever to an HBCU and the largest in the history of the College. Dr. Gayle described this gift as "transformative; it will open doors to a wide range of exciting possibilities for a college where students and staff already 'do so much with so little.' This gift is a critical step in our school's mission to eliminate financial barriers to starting and finishing a Spelman education."

In November of 2024, Rosalind "Roz" Brewer, C'84, was named interim president of Spelman College. President Brewer is chair Emerita of the Spelman College Board of Trustees, serving from 2006 to 2023 and from 2011 to 2023 as board chair. She is a renowned corporate executive celebrated for her visionary leadership, transformative impact, and unwavering dedication to advancing positive change in global business. As one of the few Black women to reach the C-suite in a Fortune 100 company, her groundbreaking career has cemented her status as one of today's most influential figures. Recognized among Fortune's "Most Powerful Women in Business" for her strategic acumen and commitment to excellence and equity, Brewer drives powerful results across corporate, educational, and cultural initiatives. Her vision for Spelman combines institutional stability with strategic advancement as she builds on the college's legacy of excellence to prepare students for an evolving global landscape.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Ceremonial garments worn at academic functions take their meaning from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, when European universities were under the jurisdiction of the church. Caps, hoods, and gowns symbolize the scholarly devotion so basic to education and to the deliberate and orderly evolution of knowledge. Participants in Spelman's Commencement today reflect the variety of colors and styles associated with the diverse degrees earned in the United States and abroad.

The gown is usually black, but some universities have adopted distinctive colors for their robes. The cut of the gown aids in differentiating between the three levels of degrees. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple and falls in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. The master's gown is somewhat fuller and bears no adornment. The doctor's gown is more elaborate, with velvet panels down the front and around the neck of the garment.

The mortarboard cap has been adopted by most universities. Some participants, however, wear the beret cap. Colored tassels are usually worn by holders of the bachelor's and master's degrees. Gold tassels are reserved for those with doctorate degrees and governing officers of educational institutions. Tassels on caps are worn on the right side until the degrees are granted, after which they are worn on the left side of the cap.

The hood offers the most significant and most readily discernible information about its owner. The inner lining of the hood identifies the institution from which the individual earned the degree. The inner lining of the Spelman hood is blue. The velvet trim bordering the hood indicates the major field of learning in which the degree has been earned.

For all academic purposes, the colors associated with the fields of learning are listed below:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music.....	Pink
Economics	Copper	Philosophy.....	Dark Blue
Education.....	Light Blue	Public Health	Salmon Pink
Engineering.....	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts, including Architecture	Brown	Theology	Scarlet

The President of the College wears the official Ceremonial Chain. Designed by Tiffany and Company, it contains three vermeil medallions that are die-struck with the shaded areas recessed and raised. Two of the medallions pay homage to Sisters Chapel while the bottom medallion features the Spelman Seal. The star of service within the seal is a Spelman blue buffed epoxy star with a .20-carat diamond. A hand-constructed vermeil necklace connects each of the three medallions. The necklace features a group of links, which are separated by squares inspired by the columns of Sisters Chapel.

The Spelman College Ceremonial Mace, held by the Head Marshal, is made from the wood of a tulip poplar and embellished with sterling silver, 14-carat gold, bronze, and blue topaz stones. The shape and light color of the wood echo the colors of Spelman and give a strong yet feminine look. The top end of the Mace, made of sterling silver, gold, and bronze, holds the seal of the College. On the staff, just below the seal, are sterling silver silhouettes of magnolia leaves that appear on the front of the staff to show an engraving of Sisters Chapel. The pattern of the leaves is sprinkled with several blue topaz cabochon stones. Each of the two sterling silver rings on the shaft of the Mace is also adorned with four blue topaz stones. A large, blue glass stone is set into the bottom of the Mace. Commissioned by Spelman College President Audrey F. Manley, C'55, in 2000, the Mace was designed by alumna Charnelle Holloway, C'79, associate professor of art. Holloway, a metalsmith, created the Mace in collaboration with Nick Cook, a fine woodturner. The Spelman College Ceremonial Mace was used first in 2001 on the 100th anniversary of the awarding of Spelman's first baccalaureate degree.

Spelman, thy name we praise	May peace with thee abide	Through years of toil and pain	And when life's race is won,
Standards and honor raise,	And God forever guide	May thy dear walls remain	Thy noble work is done,
We'll ever faithful be	Thy heights supreme and true.	Beacons of heavenly light,	Oh God, forever bind
Throughout eternity.	Blessings to you.	Undaunted by the fight;	Our hearts to thine.

TARAJI P. HENSON
COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER AND
HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Taraji P. Henson is an Academy Award-nominated actor, producer, #1 New York Times Best Selling author, mental health advocate, and entrepreneur with a globally celebrated career that extends beyond the screen.

Later this year, Henson will star in Tyler Perry's Straw for Netflix. The film, which also includes performances by Sherri Shepherd and Teyana Taylor, follows a single mother (Henson) who faces a series of unfortunate events that lead her down an unexpected path. Additional projects this year include Apple TV+'s Number One on the Call Sheet, a two-part documentary that celebrates the achievements of Black actors in Hollywood, and CNN's latest travel series My Happy Place.

Most recently, Henson starred in Peacock's limited series, Fight Night, which launched as the most watched premiere in Peacock history and the #1 original drama. The show earned the NAACP Image Awards for Outstanding Limited Television (Series, Special or Movie), and Henson took home the NAACP Image Award for Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Limited Television (Series, Special or Movie).

She quickly rose to fame with her breakout role in Hustle & Flow, earning a Screen Actors Guild nomination and a BET Award for Best Actress. She was most recently seen in the award-winning musical adaptation of The Color Purple, winning an NAACP Image Award and receiving a Screen Actors Guild ensemble nomination. Other film highlights include Hidden Figures, Acrimony, Proud Mary, Think Like a Man and Think Like a Man Too, Smokin' Aces, No Good Deed, and The Curious Case Of Benjamin Button, which earned her an Academy Award nomination for Best Supporting Actress.

On television, she has garnered multiple Primetime Emmy Award nominations, most recently for her guest turn on ABBOTT ELEMENTARY. Previously, Henson won a Golden Globe Award, received multiple Emmy nominations, and became the first Black woman to win a Critics Choice Television Award in the Best Actress in a Drama Series category for her portrayal of "Cookie Lyon" on the smash hit series, Empire. Her producorial efforts on the play, Jaja's African Hair Braiding, earned her a Tony Award nomination for Best Play in 2024.

In June 2024, she released her #1 NY Times Best Selling, and NAACP Image Award Winning children's book, You Can Be a Good Friend (No Matter What!). Henson also released her New York Times bestselling novel Around the Way Girl in October 2016.

In 2018, Henson created the Boris L. Henson Foundation, which exists to both normalize and improve access to mental health services for Black communities in hopes of eradicating the stigma around seeking help and support. Furthering her passion for creating and uplifting her community and beyond, Henson founded TPH by Taraji in 2020, an award-winning brand of inclusive, spa-inspired products. In 2024, Henson further expanded her business portfolio as the strategic advisor and creative collaborator for Seven Daughters Moscato. For Taraji, this collaboration is about more than wine; it's about creating opportunities for magical moments of connection and lasting memories.

ETHEL WADDELL GITHII HONORS PROGRAM

The Honors Program at Spelman College was established in 1980 and later named in honor of Ethel Waddell Githii, a distinguished scholar and Spelman College Class of 1957 graduate who served as director of the Honors Program from 1985 to 1990. The Honors Program captures the best of our institutional values: intellectual curiosity, academic rigor, critical/creative thinking, and strong ethical practice. At Commencement, the Honors Program recognizes three- and four-year Honors Program students who have maintained high academic standards and completed a research thesis or its equivalent, supervised by one or more of the Spelman senior faculty.
