HISTORY OF SPELMAN COLLEGE

Sophia B. Packard and Harriet E. Giles, missionary teachers from New England, founded Spelman College. With one hundred dollars, eleven students, and an offer from Father Frank Quarles to use the basement of Friendship Baptist Church, Packard and Giles established the Atlanta Baptist Female Seminary on April 11, 1881, to provide education and training for recently freed female slaves.

The philanthropy of John D. Rockefeller enabled the school to purchase nine acres and five frame buildings. In 1884, as an expression of gratitude to its generous donor, the school changed its name to Spelman Seminary in honor of the parents of his wife, Laura Spelman Rockefeller. Through the vision and self-sacrifice of Packard, the seminary was granted a state charter in 1888. Upon Packard’s death in 1891, Giles became its president. During her years of service (1891–1910), enrollment grew to 800 pupils, and the curriculum expanded to incorporate instruction in secondary and collegiate programming that included teacher, missionary, and nurse training.

From 1910 to 1953, the institution experienced unprecedented growth during the presidencies of Lucy Hale Tapley (1910–1927) and Florence Matilda Read (1927–1953). In 1924, Spelman became a four-year liberal arts college and made substantial strides in its curriculum and organization. Perhaps the most significant event of this time was the signing of the “Agreement of Affiliation” in 1929 by Spelman, Morehouse College, and Atlanta University. The agreement served as the foundation upon which the Atlanta University Center was established in 1947.

In 1953, Spelman began a new legacy of leadership when Albert Edward Manley, EdD, became the first male and first African American to lead the institution. During his administration (1953–1976), the College increased enrollment, enlarged the physical plant, and established programs that broadened the educational experience. Dr. Manley’s successor, Donald Mitchell Stewart, PhD (1976–1986), augmented this formidable legacy by enhancing academic programming, strengthening the faculty, and tripling the College’s endowment.

In 1987, Johnnetta Betsch Cole, PhD, became the first African American woman president of Spelman. During her tenure (1987–1997), she initiated programs that strengthened ties between the College and local, national, and international constituencies. The Spelman Campaign: Initiatives for the Nineties was successfully completed in 1996 by raising $113.8 million, making it the largest campaign in the history of Black college fundraising at the time.

Spelman recorded another historic moment in its annals in 1997 as Audrey Forbes Manley, MD, C’55, became the first alumna to take the helm as its eighth president. Under her leadership, the College transitioned into the twenty-first century by implementing strategic planning, improving infrastructure, enhancing technology, expanding community partnerships, and increasing its endowment. In 2000, the state-of-the-art $33.9 million Albro Falconer Manley Science Center was completed.

In 2002, Beverly Daniel Tatum, PhD, began her tenure as the ninth president of Spelman College. In 2008, the Gordon-Zeto Fund for International Initiatives was established with a gift of $17 million, which helped increase opportunities for international travel for students and faculty and provided additional financial aid for international students. Dr. Tatum also facilitated the completion of the most successful capital campaign in Spelman’s history, raising an unprecedented $157.8 million. In addition, she oversaw the completion of The Suites, later named in her honor The Beverly Daniel Tatum Suites, the first LEED Silver certified “green” residence hall on the campus of a historically Black college or university.
In March of 2015, Mary Schmidt Campbell, PhD, was named Spelman’s tenth president. Dr. Campbell viewed Spelman as a "necessity" to "reach an ideal of equality," so she launched "Imagine. Invent. Ascend," a bold new strategic vision for educating Black women for the twenty-first century. Leading the College through transformative change and the unprecedented global COVID-19 pandemic, she worked tirelessly to ensure that every Spelman student graduates with a competitive edge. She expanded the College’s strategic partnerships and deepened its excellence in STEM by wedding it to art, innovation, and technology. To support this vision, the College, under Dr. Campbell’s leadership, raised more than $339 million, the largest comprehensive campaign in Spelman’s history.

The construction of a new 84,000-square-foot Center for Innovation and the Arts was the culminating activity of Dr. Campbell’s tenure. The first new academic facility to be built on the campus in 25 years, the building will serve as the College’s “front porch,” opening the campus to the Westside community. The building has been named in honor of Dr. Mary Schmidt Campbell.

On July 1, 2022, Helene D. Gayle, MD, MPH, was named Spelman’s eleventh president. At her investiture in April of 2023, Dr. Gayle committed herself to working with the Spelman community to change the lives of those who will change the lives of others. She said, “Now, more than ever we need Spelman women who are ready to be in the room and at the table where decisions about our future, our collective destiny, are being made.”

Dr. Gayle previously served as president and CEO of The Chicago Community Trust, one of the nation’s oldest and largest community foundations, from October 2017 to June 2022. Under her leadership, the Trust adopted a new strategic focus on closing the racial and ethnic wealth gap in the Chicago region. From 2006 to 2015, Dr. Gayle was president and CEO of CARE, a leading international humanitarian organization, where she led efforts to empower girls and women worldwide.

2024 marked 100 years since Spelman Baptist Seminary became Spelman College. At the convocation celebrating this milestone, the College announced the receipt of a $100 million historic gift from longtime Spelman trustee and philanthropist Ronda Stryker and her husband, William Johnston. The gift is the largest individual donation ever to an HBCU and the largest in the history of the College. Dr. Gayle described this gift as “transformative; it will open doors to a wide range of exciting possibilities for a college where students and staff already ‘do so much with so little.’ This gift is a critical step in our school’s mission to eliminate financial barriers to starting and finishing a Spelman education.”
ACADEMIC REGALIA

Ceremonial garments worn at academic functions take their meaning from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, when European universities were under the jurisdiction of the church. Caps, hoods, and gowns symbolize the scholarly devotion so basic to education and to the deliberate and orderly evolution of knowledge. Participants in Spelman’s Commencement today reflect the variety of colors and styles associated with the diverse degrees earned in the United States and abroad.

The gown is usually black, but some universities have adopted distinctive colors for their robes. The cut of the gown aids in differentiating between the three levels of degrees. The bachelor’s gown is relatively simple and falls in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. The master’s gown is somewhat fuller and bears no adornment. The doctor’s gown is more elaborate, with velvet panels down the front and around the neck of the garment.

The mortarboard cap has been adopted by most universities. Some participants, however, wear the beret cap. Colored tassels are usually worn by holders of the bachelor’s and master’s degrees. Gold tassels are reserved for those with doctorate degrees and governing officers of educational institutions. Tassels on caps are worn on the right side until the degrees are granted, after which they are worn on the left side of the cap.

The hood offers the most significant and most readily discernible information about its owner. The inner lining of the hood identifies the institution from which the individual earned the degree. The inner lining of the Spelman hood is blue. The velvet trim bordering the hood indicates the major field of learning in which the degree has been earned.

For all academic purposes, the colors associated with the fields of learning are listed below:

The President of the College wears the official Ceremonial Chain. Designed by Tiffany and Company, it contains three vermeil medallions that are die-struck with the shaded areas recessed and raised. Two of the medallions pay homage to Sisters Chapel while the bottom medallion features the Spelman Seal. The star of service within the seal is a Spelman blue buffed epoxy star with a .20-carat diamond. A hand-constructed vermeil necklace connects each of the three medallions. The necklace features a group of links, which are separated by squares inspired by the columns of Sisters Chapel.

The Spelman College Ceremonial Mace, held by the Head Marshall, is made from the wood of a tulip poplar and embellished with sterling silver, 14-carat gold, bronze, and blue topaz stones. The shape and light color of the wood echo the colors of Spelman and give a strong yet feminine look. The top end of the Mace, made of sterling silver, gold, and bronze, holds the seal of the College. On the staff, just below the seal, are sterling silver silhouettes of magnolia leaves that appear on the front of the staff to show an engraving of Sisters Chapel. The pattern of the leaves is sprinkled with several blue topaz cabochon stones. Each of the two sterling silver rings on the shaft of the Mace is also adorned with four blue topaz stones. A large, blue glass stone is set into the bottom of the Mace. Commissioned by Spelman College President Audrey F. Manley, C’55, in 2000, the Mace was designed by alumna Charnelle Holloway, C’79, associate professor of art. Holloway, a metalsmith, created the Mace in collaboration with Nick Cook, a fine woodturner. The Spelman College Ceremonial Mace was used first in 2001 on the 100th anniversary of the awarding of Spelman’s first baccalaureate degree.

SPELMAN COLLEGE HYMN
Spelman, thy name we praise
May peace with thee abide
Through years of toil and pain
Eddye Money Shivery, C’34
And when life’s race is won,
Standards and honor raise,
And God forever guide
May thy dear walls remain
Our hearts to thine,
We’ll ever faithful be
Thy heights supreme and true.
Beacons of heavenly light,
Oh God, forever bind
Throughout eternity.
Blessings to you.
Undaunted by the fight;
Our hearts to thine.

Benediction

ANGELA BASSETT
COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER AND
HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Angela Bassett is an Honorary Oscar recipient, award-winning actress, director, and executive producer known for captivating performances in iconic films such as Malcolm X, Waiting to Exhale, How Stella Got her Groove Back, Black Panther, Mission Impossible: Fallout, and What’s Love Got to Do with It, for which she received an Academy Award nomination.

Bassett returned as the beloved Queen Ramonda in Black Panther: Wakanda Forever, receiving Golden Globe and Critics Choice awards, with Academy Award, SAG, and BAFTA nominations as well as the Variety Creative Impact in Acting Award. She also stars in and is an executive producer of the ABC/Disney hit drama 9-1-1, stars in the recently released Netflix Originals blockbuster feature film Damsel, opposite Millie Bobby Brown, and is narrator of the critically acclaimed NatGeo limited series Queens.

A graduate of Yale University and Yale School of Drama, Bassett was named one of the Time 100 and Time Women of the Year in 2023. She has earned multiple Emmy nominations and is the recipient of a SAG Award, 16 NAACP Image Awards, two Golden Globe Awards, the Black Girl Rocks! Icon Award, Critics Choice Celebration of Black Cinema & Television Career Achievement Award, An AAFCA TV Honor, and Glamour’s Women of the Year Award. Bassett was nominated for the Directors Guild of America Award for her directorial debut of the Whitney Houston biopic, Whitney.

While at Yale, Bassett met Courtney Vance, whom she later married. The two formed Bassett Vance Productions together and are now in partnership with MTVE Studios to create diverse and inclusive content for Paramount Global. Their first project, One Thousand Years of Slavery, aired in February 2022 on the Smithsonian Chanel. Heist 88, a feature film starring Vance, aired on Showtime Networks in the fall of 2023 and has received three NAACP Image Award nominations, winning one for Outstanding Writing.
The Honorable Ketanji Brown Jackson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Washington, D.C., on September 14, 1970. She married Patrick Jackson in 1996, and they have two daughters.

After three years in private practice, Jackson worked as an attorney at the U.S. Sentencing Commission from 2003 to 2005. From 2005 to 2007, she served as an assistant federal public defender in Washington, D.C., and from 2007 to 2010, she was in private practice. She served as a Vice Chair and Commissioner on the U.S. Sentencing Commission from 2010 to 2014. In 2012, President Barack Obama nominated her to the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, where she served from 2013 to 2021. She was appointed to the Defender Services Committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States in 2017 and the Supreme Court Fellows Commission in 2019. President Joseph R. Biden, Jr., appointed Jackson to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in 2021 and then nominated her as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in 2022. She took her seat on June 30, 2022.
Rose Scott is an award-winning veteran journalist who serves as the executive producer and host of the midday news program “Closer Look,” broadcast on Atlanta’s NPR station, 90.1 FM WABE. She joined WABE full time in 2008 after coming on board as a freelancer in 2007.

“Closer Look” has become a signature broadcast for the community and brings together viewpoints from all sectors of society. In her role as executive producer and host, Scott has interviewed foreign heads of state, cabinet members, U.S. ambassadors, numerous consul generals, state, and local elected officials as well as civic and social leaders. With more than two decades of reporting in Atlanta, she has covered a wide range of topics including education, minority health issues, sports, affordable housing, immigration, and criminal justice reform. In 2013, Rose traveled to Amman, Jordan to report on the Syrian refugee crisis.

Scott has anchored national broadcasts for NPR and the BBC and has made guest appearances on other international, national, and local news outlets. However, it’s the Atlanta region where she devotes time to community concerns as she is often called upon to moderate panel discussions and host events where service to others is at the core.

Scott is well respected in the Atlanta community for her thought-provoking reporting style, and she has been honored with several awards, including a Southeast Regional Emmy Award, Telly Award, Edward R. Murrow Award, an Atlanta Association of Black Journalists Award, numerous Georgia Association of Broadcaster awards, and awards from the Georgia Associated Press.

Scott often speaks to students from high schools, colleges, and universities about careers in journalism, community engagement, the importance of democracy, and a free press. In 2022, she was among three Clayton State University commencement speakers.

The Honors Program at Spelman College was established in 1980 and later named in honor of Ethel Waddell Githii, a distinguished scholar and Spelman College Class of 1957 graduate who served as director of the Honors Program from 1985 to 1990. The Honors Program captures the best of our institutional values: intellectual curiosity, academic rigor, critical/creative thinking, and strong ethical practice. At Commencement, the Honors Program recognizes three- and four-year Honors Program students who have maintained high academic standards and completed a research thesis or its equivalent, supervised by one or more of the Spelman senior faculty.
