Spelman College Violence Prevention & Intervention Program Virtual Clothesline Project

Adapted from the national campaign, the Spelman College VP&I Program is dedicated to raising awareness about the reality of interpersonal violence in our society. It is composed of t-shirts created by survivors of violence, or in honor of someone who has experienced violence. Each design gives the creator a space to speak and heal through artwork. Due to social distancing, this year's event will take place in a modified format via social media.

HOW CAN YOU PARTICIPATE?

Students, faculty and staff are invited to create messages and images on Canva, PPT, Adobe Illustrator, Paint, or good old fashioned paper and pen/marker/paint. Images should be designed with a background color chosen from the national Clothesline

PROJECT COLORS:

Pink Shirt: for survivors of Adult Sexual Assault (over 12)

Yellow Shirt: for survivors of Relationship Violence

Blue Shirt: for survivors of Childhood Sexual Abuse and incest (under 12)

White Shirt: to remember those lost to sexual or relationship violence

Purple Shirt: those who experienced violence as a result of their sexual orientation and/or gender identity

Grey Shirt: for survivors of stalking

Once your design is finalized, please save it as a JPEG or PNG (for digital designs) or take a photo of it (for non-digital designs) and email it dorian.johnson@spelman.edu by April 24th. We will curate a virtual Clothesline Project from contributions received and display them via Instagram (@spelman_vpiprogram) and Twitter (@spelman_vpi) the week of April 27th. All contributions will be anonymous.

RESOURCES:

While participating in our virtual Clothesline Project, you may feel a range of emotions from sadness to anger to empowerment. All of these feelings are natural and common and you have the right to experience all of them. If you would like support in processing your emotions, please know that there are several resources available to you, including:
