The Impact of Globalization

In Sydney or Florence or Buenos Aires

This course will analyze and explore the social, economic, and political realities of the destination city that are frequently unseen and unconsidered by tourists and other visitors drawn to the great works of art and architecture. Students will analyze the impact of class, power, and privilege as elements in the social dynamics that shape the identity of the destination city. Students will engage with the diverse ethnicities in the city, consider the tension between global and local dynamics and, therefore, gain insight into the "other" reality beyond the tourist gaze.
